

Three Pigs, A Wolf, and a Book ~ the Play
adapted by Mrs. Beyer

Narrator: Once there were three little pigs who each built a neat little house for himself at the edge of the Deep Dark Woods.

Able: I will build my house out of straw.

Buster: I will build my house out of twigs.

Clark: Look at those houses. This won't do at all! I'm going to build my house out of fine strong bricks!

Narrator: One day a Big Bad Wolf showed up at Able's straw house. He didn't even bother knocking.

Big Bad Wolf: Huf, Puff, Huff, Huff Puff!
Woooooooo

Narrator: Able ran next door to Buster's house. The Big Bad Wolf saw that the stick house was just as poorly made as the straw house, so he went:

Big Bad Wolf: Huf, Puff, Huff, Huff Puff!
Woooooooo

Narrator: Able and Buster ran to next door to Clark's house. They told him that the Big Bad Wolf was on his way and was going to blow his house down.

Clark: He can try.

Narrator: Clark went to his bookshelf and chose a book, How to Scare Away Anything. Clark flipped to the Ws near the end of the book.

Big Bad Wolf: Knock, knock, knock.

Clark: Go away!

Big Bad Wolf: Huf, Puff, Huff, Huff Puff!
Woooooooo

Narrator: The house began to shake. Able and Buster covered their ears and got ready to run.

Big Bad Wolf: Huf, Puff, Huff, Huff Puff!
Woooooooo

Narrator: The house rocked from side to side! Finally Clark found what he was looking for.

Clark: Pots and pans! Wolves are afraid of pots and pans!

Narrator: Clark, Able and Buster grabbed pots and pans and banged them together, louder and louder!

(pigs bang pans)

Big Bad Wolf: Oooooooo!

Narrator: Clark peeked out the window to see Wolf holding his ears and howling.

Clark: Louder!

Narrator: The noise was deafening! With one last howl...

Big Bad Wolf: OOOOoooooooooooo!!!!

Narrator: the wolf ran from the house and headed back to Deep Dark Woods never to bother the pigs again.